Dear Mr. Aberhart,

I am drawn by the Father in Heaven to write these few lines to you.

I have stood in many crowds where your name was marked as first and foremost to pour out all the vile that Satan could sponsor in the hearts of men. I have witnessed a great many mouths spit out the meanest words they could utter, about you and I am writing to tell you what your words have done for me.

I was a lost sinner, but now I am safe in God's loving arms. As I have heard God's word from your church pulpit, watched the ways of men and your reaction since I first sat in at a Social Credit meeting and through it all saw God's almighty hand; at last I have broken down and accept you as my God and Jesus Christ as my personal Saviour. May these words bring you courage in the great fight for a better world.

Sincerely,

Mrs. A. M. Diehl.

P.S.

I am twenty-three years old.
