How You Can Vote For Twenty-Seven Candidates And Not Lose Your Vote

The list below gives you a clear idea of how the names of all Edmonton candidates will appear on the ballot given you when you go to the polls on Thursday, August 22.

The black figures on the right opposite each candidate's name is the place you will mark your numbers. You will notice that no information is given as to which party the candidates belong to. It is important you decide the order (from your first choice number 1 to 27) in which you are going to mark your ballot before going to the polling booth.

The manner in which the list is marked with the figures 1 to 27 shows you how one may vote. This marked list gives Mr. Howson first choice and the other five Liberal candidates (larger type) in the order they were nominated. Next the Labor candidates are favored, then the Conservatives with all others in the highest figures.

DUGGAN RENEWS ATTACK ON S.C.

(Special to The Journal)

LETHBRIDGE, Aug. 12.—D. A. Duggan, Conservative leader in Alberta, speaking at Pincher Creek Saturday, renewed his attack on Social Credit, claiming it unworkable. He spoke in the interests of R. O. Allison, Conservative candidate.

Mr. Duggan said he had spoken personally to William Aberhart and discussed Social Credit. Both had agreed there must be reform and progress. But Mr. Duggan has come to the conclusion that Social Credit cannot work in one province alone.

S.C. Is Religious Crusade, Says Dean of Canterbury

Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson Lands at N.Y. for Tour of Canada

'DIVIDED PASSION'

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, dean of Canterbury, said Monday he saw in the social credit movement the beginning of "a tremendous religious crusade" against poverty.

The white-haired, 61-year-old English prelate arrived Sunday to campaign for social credit theories in a seven-week swing through Canada, from Ottawa to Victoria.

He plans also to confer with Social Credit league leaders in Alberta.

If failure should come in Alberta, he said, it would be "only a seaback" in the world-wide program which he said should interest the churches because it promises to curb nationalism, "fomentation of war."

"As a Christian I couldn't keep quiet," he said in explanation of his enlistment in the social credit ranks.

He will avoid "current politics" in his Canadian tour, he said, because his interest is only in spreading the theory. "Which ever party or person is the implement doesn't matter to me," he added.

By unleashing productive powers, Dean Johnson said, the social credit plan could start "a new creative age" comparable to that of Venice and Florence, but built upon "machines and not slaves."

The Alberta victory, he said, "boomed through the English press and made a tremendous impression upon English thinking."

Disclaiming share - the - wealth ideas, the dean said: "Soak-the-rich is a thing I have not much sympathy with. In Engalnd it would mean raising the income of everyone merely 10 shillings a week."

CALDER PLANNING VISIT TO ENGLAND

Won't Comment on Retirement From Provincial Service

William Calder, ex-director of the provincial petroleum and natural gas division, plans to make a trip to England in the near future, he told the Journal Monday. He declined to make any further statement on the subject of his resignation.

"I was asked to resign and I did resign, and that's all there is to it," Mr. Calder said.

Demand Abolition Of Relief Camps

Thirty-Hour Week for All Canada Urged By Labor

HALIFAX, Sept. 16.—Immediate abolition of Canada's relief camps and withdrawal of section 98 of the criminal code were urged Monday by Winnipeg and Calgary councils at the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada's annual convention.

Practical work schemes with "fair rates of pay and standard working conditions," were urged for relief cases.

Resolutions offered call for a six-hour day and a five-day week for all industrial Canada, with wage scales kept at least at present levels.

Swiftly changing economic conditions demand the revision of the British North America act, the congress was told in its executive council's report. National unity must be achieved, the report asserted.

16,000 MANOEUVRE

NURNBERG, Sept. 16—Sixteen thousand Germans armed with complete modern equipment began manoeuvres Monday on the Zeppelin meadows.

Lauds Aberhart

FATHER COUGHLIN

Coughlin Predicts Aberhart Victory

Radio Priest, Monetary Reformer, Congratulates Alberta Premier

HOLD CONFERENCE

(Special and C. P. Dispatches)

DETROIT, Sept. 16.—After a two-hour conference with Premier Aberhart, of Alberta, Saturday, Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, radio champion of Social Justice, lauded the Social Credit premier and congratulated Alberta on having elected him.

"They should be congratulated on having made this forward step," Father Coughlin said. "Premier Aberhart is going in the right direction and should succeed."

Mr. Aberhart announced he planned to consult social and ecenomic leaders throughout Canada and the United States. He had expected to meet Henry Ford, but Mr. Ford is out of town.

"My meeting with Father Coughlin was an informal one," the premier said, "but I hope we will be able to make his broadcasts available in the near future for our people in Alberta. We are happy that he finds our plans practical and workable."

Mr. Aberhart said the details of his party's plan would be worked out by Major C. H. Douglas, when he reaches Canada from England.

Nothing New In U.S.

Father Coughlin issued the following statement after talking with the Alberta premier.

"Social Credit, of course, is nothing new in the constitution of the United States. Our constitution already says congress has the right to coin and regulate the value of money. Everyone knows that 95 per cent. of our money is credit money. Therefore, congress has a right to regulate credit.

"Unfortunately, a small group of individuals, contrary to the constitution, has been coining and regulating the value of money in this nation to such an extent that 'no one dare breathe against their will,' to quote the head of the Catholic church.

"Premier Aberhart is certainly going ahead saving democracy and clinging to the sovereign right of the people to regulate its own money. Both he and Alberta are to be congratulated on having made this forward step, which the forefathers of the United States attempted to make, but in which they were frustrated by the Alexander Hamiltons and their successors."

Edmonton Social Credit-ers Nominate 18 as 'Possibles' For 6 Seats in Legislature

Final List Will Be Drafted by Aberhart and Board

TO WITHHOLD NAMES

Eighteen persons, representing various walks of life including a student, professional men and a housewife were nominated at an Edmonton constituency Social Credit convention held Saturday in the Macdonald. From these 18, William Aberhart, Alberta Social Credit league leader, and his advisory board will select six candidates to contest the Edmonton constituency in the next previncial election.

While the six will be chosen next Thursday when Mr. Aberhart visits the city, their names will not be announced until after a date for the provincial election is declared, the Journal learned. Seven Edmonton delegates chosen at the convention Saturday, will assist the board in selecting the six candidates.

Commencing at 7:30 p.m. Saturday under the chairmanship of Dr. W. S. Hall, the convention, attended by 97 delegates representing every study group in the city, lasted until midnight.

First 38 from among their number were nominated and each in turn spoke. Then a vote by proportional representation was taken and 18 picked from which the six candidates will be selected.

Nominees

Those nominated were:

Dr. W. S. Hall, 14625 Stony Plain rd., dentist.

Dr. C. B. Willis, 11504 96 st., teacher at Victoria high school.

Rice Sheppard, 6722 81 st., ex-alderman here and retired farmer.

Dr. Raymond C. Ghostley, 10821 126 st., osteopath.

Charles W. Clement, 10730 83 ave., retired.

D. B. Mullen, 49, of 8110 128 ave., livestock dealer here for the past 28 years.

Clayton Adams, 53, of 9905 102 st., life insurance agent.

Orvis Kennedy, 11448 96 st., hardware salesman.

Mark W. Robertson, 11329 96 st., insurance salesman.

Mrs. R. Hanna, 10325 104 st.

A. McLeod, 7305 105A st., University of Alberta student.

S. A. G. Barnes, 10817 83 ave., veteran school trustee and insurance agent.

Dr. W. A. McConkey, 9905 86 ave., physician and surgeon.

G. L. King, 8405 114 ave., clerk.

T. R. Blaine, 9720 106 st., drug clerk.

J. H. Unwin, Calgary, former assistant store manager, now Social Credit speaker.

David Horwood, Strathcona, unemployed.

A. Whiteman, Calder.

During the addresses given by the 38 speakers, it was related by most how they had felt some solution to the present problems was needed and they believed Social Credit was the answer.

Pasts Related

Some told of forsaking old-line parties and others of previously never taking an interest in politics and not being associated with any other political party.

One delegate, who was nominated declared he was "100 per cent for Social Credit," but declined the nomination with the remark: "I don't think I am suited as a candidate."

Rev. A. D. Richard, who said he has been a United church minister for the past 20 years, declared Social Credit was "a real Christian movement."

"We are going to do something for the young men and young women in the province and this is one of the greatest movements," he added.

Another speaker declared the "real fight will be after the Social Credit government gets in."

Those chosen as constituency delegates who will assist Mr. Aberhart in selecting the six candidates from the 18 nominations next week are: C. E. Tupper, William Anderson, A. D. Bruce, W. R. Baker, Guy Patterson, A. Gillies and A. Baldwin.

Says Veteran Cut Off Relief Because He's S.C. Supporter

But Chairman, Alleging It, Doesn't Identify Ex-Soldier

6 CANDIDATES SPEAK

Youth to Become Vagrants if Party Not Elected, Is Threat

Statement of W. L. Herring, chairman at a Social Credit meeting in Norwood Wednesday night, that a returned soldier had been cut off relief at the community kitchen because he said he was supporting Aberhart Social Credit, was branded as "ridiculous" by Major W. A. R. Rees, official of the unemployment relief commission, Thursday.

"I wish Mr. Herring would supply me with the details. I can assure you there is not a shred of truth in any such story. It is absurd. How a man votes is no concern of ours and we have scrupulously avoided politics in the administration of relief," declared Major Rees.

Charge that "a returned soldier" receiving single men's unemployment relief at the community kitchen "has been cut off relief because he is supporting Social Credit" was made at a Social Credit meeting at the I.O.O.F. hall, Norwood, Wednesday night by W. L. Herring, chairman. He did not identify the veteran.

Mr. Herring said that this was the story given to him by the ex-relief recipient, who claimed that when he was refused the one meal per day he had been getting, he went to the Salvation Army "and had to sleep on the floor because it was full up."

Six Social Credit candidates in Edmonton constituency were speakers at the meeting, which attracted over 200 persons.

Orvis E. Kennedy presented a picture of Social Credit being elected or "your sons on streets as vagrants or being destroyed on the battlefield," and declared that "Social Credit will work under the present constitution and we are going to make it work and try not to make too much trouble about it." If the constitution stands in the way "of young people making a living, then it must be changed."

War Profits

He could not understand why those who presented money at the time of war are now getting 5½ per cent "in war profits" while others faced an empty chair at the dinner table because a son had been given in war.

D. B. Mullen found that "finance hits us when we are down. The count on us is nine now, and if we don't get up and fight finance, we'll be down for all time." He said he had read somewhere that 70 per cent of the statesmen of Canada have been lawyers and added: "Social Credit represents the common people, not the legal profession." He referred to the importation of Liberal "big guns" for the campaign as bringing "great men from the east and wise men from the west."

Answering Carl E. Berg, Labor candidate in the Edmonton riding, Gilbert King said that he was disassociating Mr. Berg "from the hundreds of intelligent and thoughtful Labor men" in making his criticisms and believed that Mr. Berg was seeking a pre-election alibi for losing his deposit. He described the Economic Safety league as an infant of the Liberal party, with the Liberals "hiding behind the peculiar angular garments of the Safety Pin league."

He called the debt problem hopeless, "and if we keep on we'll be in the hands of a receiver and getting 10 cents a day doled out to us." The speaker could not understand why relief camp residents "earn 20 cents a day and a $40,000 bonus is paid to a tobacco company buyer who successfully robs his fellow man."

Forget Details Is Plea

Dr. W. S. Hall admitted that "I don't come before you as an expert in economics' but advised his audience to "get behind Social Credit and forget the details. Leave that to the men you send down to the legislature." Dealing with the question of credit, he said that wheat have that number from Edmonton the capital city."

Sees Regret

The leader told first of conditions in Saskatchewan and British Columbia, which had Liberal governments. Now people were saying that these governments could not be returned if they had to face the people now, he charged.

Deploring the falsifying tactics of political opponents, Mr. Aberhart said that as he viewed it, this was an economic struggle and should not be a political struggle.

Turning his guns on the newly-formed Economic Safety league, which claimed to be non-political, Mr. Aberhart remarked it was significant that the president was a "super-heterodyne Liberal," which, he explained, was one who was "running on all sixes" in the Liberal party. The secretary of the organization, a Drumheller man, was a perennial aspirant for the Liberal nomination there and when he failed to get it this year, joined in the "mud-slinging" against Social Credit, he said.

Says Bankers Advised

Declaring he would show the lengths to which opponents were ready to go to defeat Social Credit, Mr. Aberhart said two Calgary bankers had received instructions from the east to "finish up this new movement at any cost."

"If men will do these things before they get into power, there is no assurance of what they will do after they get in," he declared.

Dealing with serious conditions facing many people, the leader said he had been told that if there was not a change there would not be a solvent business firm in Calgary after two years and he supposed the same would apply to Edmonton.

"Why should the wages of money be high and the wages of services and goods be low? Something must be done, and that is why I am so intense about it," he said.

Resources Available

There were rich resources available. Somebody was robbing the people of what they were entitled to and it was their right to have food, clothing and shelter, he declared.

"If something is not done, we shall hear the cries of the hungry children, and the moans of the mothers who have given the last of their bread to the children. I don't know what could make a greater appeal to us," he said.

An appeal for a greater spirit of co-operation was made by the speaker. There should be more of the "stick together" outlook, and not that of "dog eat dog and let the devil take the hindmost," he said.

Addresses also were given by Dr. W. S. Hall, S. A. G. Barnes, G. L. King, Mark Robertson, Orvis Kennedy, and D. B. Mullen, Social Credit candidates for this city's seats in the provincial house.

a day and a $40,000 bonus is paid to a tobacco company buyer who successfully robs his fellow man."

Dr. W. S. Hall admitted that "I don't come before you as an expert in economics' but advised his audience to "get behind Social Credit and forget the details. Leave that to the men you send down to the legislature." Dealing with the question of credit, he said that wheat sent to the coast, for instance, creates a credit there and that if wheat is not sent out of the province "we won't have anything."

Dr. Hall said the state credit house would be nothing but a bookkeeping establishment in which would be kept track the record of "the services we do for each other."

S. A. G. Barnes charged that the U. F. A. government, "which went into power in 1921 as an organization with radical ideas," had become a tool of the system it was elected to correct. He described the Economic Safety league as the Economic False Economy Safety league and denied that Social Credit candidates are prospective "yes men" for William Aberhart. He found, too, that Social Credit must start now, or there would be Fascism in Canada within five years.

Mark Robertson declared that he adopted Social Credit after careful study of it, and explained the operation of the proposed basic dividend and the state credit house.

commencing a dominion-wide lecture tour advocating Social Credit."

The Social Credit leader pleaded for political and religious freedom and condemned compromise.

"There is more hope for a country with oppression and despair than for a country where there is compromise," he said. "Compromise won't stand for truth and will never get you anywhere."

Social Credit nominations for the dominion election October 14 will be made for Calgary West, September 10, Calgary East, September 1., and Red Deer September 7, it was announced.

May Need $12,000,000 Bennett Is Informed

By Charles Bishop
(Special to Edmonton Journal and Associated Southam Newspapers)

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—The willingness of the dominion government to assist the new Aberhart ministry of Alberta and to treat the province fairly was affirmed by Premier Bennett in a statement Tuesday.

As much as $12,000,000 may be required to straighten out the provincial finances. Confirming the new provincial premier's intimation Mr. Bennett said.

"Mr. Aberhart and I had a conversation on the telephone. He is endeavoring to ascertain what money will be required by Alberta: (A) To discharge the existing government liabilities, and

(B) To provide for maturing obligations between now and the end of the year.

"When he has secured that information, Mr. Aberhart will communicate with the federal government. He was of the opinion the province would be required to borrow $12,000,000 or more to enable it to meet its financial obligations with the next year.

"I assured Mr. Aberhart that the province would be treated fairly by the government, and that I would do anything I could reasonably do to assist him in dealing with the difficult financial conditions of the province.

"We had no discussion regarding Social Credit or policies of his government. We were concerned with the immediate financial problems of Alberta with which the new government must deal. Mr. Aberhart expressed a willingness to come to Ottawa to discuss finances with the government if circumstances necessitated his so doing."

PREMIER TELLS LISTENERS TO HEED EXPERTS

No Use Electing Parliament if Bank Interests Control, He Says

WETASKIWIN, Aug. 21—Two thousand people gave Premier Aberhart a great ovation at the Wetaskiwin skating rink on Friday night. The premier, in opening his address, read three telegrams from Australia.

"Douglas expects every man to do his duty," wired the Social Crediters of New South Wales.

Other telegrams from Manitoba, New Zealand and Vancouver urging defiance to the Dominion disallowance of Alberta legislation were also read to a cheering throng.

"A truly Democratic government is one which tries to give the electors what they ask for," declared the premier, "and I have every confidence that the will of the people of Alberta will prevail.

EXPERTS ASSURE

"Our experts," the premier continued, "assure us of certain success in fulfilling the promises the government made to you two years ago. But don't try and tell them what to do and how to do it. In the past the world has been trying to cure symptoms instead of treating the causes of our economic ills, such as treating unemployment instead of removing the economic cause of unemployment."

Referring to the Bank of Canada report the Premier said that, though there were deposits 20 millions in excess of the peak of 1929, there were 776 millions less funds in use for commercial enterprises.

HONEST CAUSE

Speaking of the recent legislation Mr. Aberhart declared the government never intended to prevent any honest cause being brought into courts but they did intend to prevent actions by obscure persons to hide the real interests who desired to hold up legislative action.

"Let the banks come out in the open," he said. "It is no use electing parliament if the fnancers stand behind the scenes and move the government like tin soldiers."

In closing, the Premier declared that he was a Britisher from the heart out and that he had no intention of seceding. "We have no need to secede," he declared. "There are constitutional ways of doing what we have to do and we intend to do them."
