Only one candidate, W. R. Howson, provincial Liberal leader, was elected in Edmonton when counting of first choices was virtually completed by Journal tabulators at 10:00 p.m. It appeared that the quota necessary to elect in the city would be about 5,100 and Mr. Howson had received 8,623 first choices when 169 polls out of a total of 171 had been heard from.

The second choices of all Mr. Howson's ballots will now be distributed.

W. R. Howson, Liberal leader, swung into a commanding lead among Edmonton candidates as first returns started to pour in. Social Credit candidates, following the example of their fellows in the country, were well to the front, holding three of the first six places in a summary of 10 scattered split polls, out of a total of 171.

This summary gave Mr. Howson 422 first choices. He was followed by S. A. G. Barnes, Social Credit, with 206; Dr. W. S. Hall, Social Credit, 104; O. A. Kennedy, Social Credit, 84; Mrs. Marion Conroy, Liberal, 73; D. M. Duggan, Conservative leader, 69, and Attorney General J. F. Lymburn, 61.

Barnes Second

Running second to Mr. Howson was S. A. G. Barnes, Social Credit, with 4,300 first choices, at least 800 short of the quota.

Following Mr. Barnes were Dr. W. S. Hall, Social Credit, with 2,758; D. B. Mullen, Social Credit, with 2,373; Hon. J. F. Lymburn, U.F.A., with 1,971; O. A. Kennedy, Social Credit, with 1,778, and D. M. Duggan, Conservative leader, with 1,382.

From the total first choices received by parties, it appeared as if the Liberals were certain of two seats, Social Credit of two and the division of the other two city seats highly problematical.

Indefinite Until Friday

It is unlikely that the full list of six members in Edmonton will be known before Friday afternoon, as the first task of the counting headquarters is to re-check the tabulation of the deputy returning officers. Then comes the big job of distributing the second choices on Mr. Howson's ballots.

Labor and Conservative candidates made a poor showing in the city. Jan Lakeman, Communist, received a better vote than any of the Conservatives or Labor, with the exception of Mr. Duggan. Running at the bottom of the list was D. M. Ramsay, Conservative, with only 62 first choices.

Dr. W. S. Hall Voices Satisfaction Over Election

Extreme gratification was expressed by Dr. W. S. Hall, Social Credit candidate and leader of the Edmonton Social Credit council, over the election results.

"I am delighted at the way Social Credit is sweeping the province, but it is what we have worked for and what we expected," he declared. "It shows the people have had enough of old line parties and their promises," he added.

Aberhart Is Prepared To Take Premiership; Says No Drastic Action

Grit Leader Elected

W. R. Howson, K.C., held his seat in the provincial legislature when he secured far more than the quota of first choices necessary to elect. It appeared that the quota would be about 5,000 and with 150 out of 171 city polls heard from, Mr. Howson had received 7,741 first choices. It appeared as if Mr. Howson would be the only Edmonton candidate elected on the first count.

Nothing Detrimental to Capital, Investments, He Promises

NO DIVIDENDS DATE

No drastic action will be taken with regard to capital or investments in this province and nothing detrimental to their interests will be introduced so long as business firms are not exploiting the people, William Aberhart, leader of the Social Credit movement, stated, when reached by the Journal on the long distance telephone to Calgary.

The leader stated that if a conference of the Social Credit members decided to offer him the premiership, he will accept it, and will assume the office gladly.

Sees Right to Freedom

"By their votes today, the people of Alberta have vindicated their right to economic freedom," said Mr. Aberhart.

"They have manifested to the world that the people of Alberta are determined to put an end to the great problems of the depression.

"The youth of our land must be given an opportunity to live rather than exist."

WOMEN DISPLAYED UNUSUAL INTEREST

Evincing perhaps, greater interest and eagerness than they have ever shown before, women of Edmonton were at the polls in record numbers Thursday.

"More women have come in to vote than I ever remember previously," exclaimed one returning officer of long experience.

"Usually the number of women to vote is far below the number of men, but during this election it seems that the women have taken the issue far more seriously," he said.

Facilities Are Doubled at Last Minute, 35,000
May Vote

With 73 per cent of the total possible votes polled by 3:30 p.m. Thursday the record-breaking rush experienced during the opening hours of the 40 polls in Edmonton slacked off to a normal flow of citizens during the afternoon.

Approximately 51,000 names appear on the voters' list.

From 9:00 a.m., when the polls opened, until 1:00 p.m. over 15,000 citizens cast their vote in the unprecedented rush.

Many polling places were swamped and continuous queues at every booth in every poll was the experience throughout the morning and hundreds of men and women rushed to register their choices among the 27 candidates in the Edmonton provincial constituency. Six members for the eighth Alberta legislature are to be elected in the city.

Intense excitement attended the opening of the polls as the early rush was fully 100 per cent greater than had been expected. Harassed election workers poured out complaints that electors were going away "disgusted" rather than wait in line for an hour or more. A crew of carpenters swung into action to erect more booths.

Supplies of extra pencils and lumber for additional booths were rushed to every poll in the city in an effort to speed up the handling of voters and relieve the congestion.

At Victoria high school, poll six, 710 of the 2,700 qualified electors on the list had cast their ballots before 12:00 noon. Scutineers here, with the experience of many elections, declared the rush was "almost unbelievable" and they "had never seen anything like it."

Six hundred and fifty of the 1,650 electors in poll 18 had cast their ballots at the garage on 102 ave., west of 124 st., during the first three hours of voting. It was said that several persons, including prominent west end residents, found they were not on the voters' list. Accordingly, they were sworn and permitted to vote.

With 1,600 on the list, more than 600 voters had visited Garneau high school, poll 26, on the south side up to 12:30 p.m.

The nine split polls at King Edward school, poll 30, big south side voting division, reported nearly 1,000 persons voted up to 1:00 p.m. out of 2,700 on the list.

Stories of Voters

At every poll visited there were similar stories.

"It took me an hour and 10 minutes before I could get in a polling booth!"

Tries Suicide, Swings In Air In Tug-of-War

SEATTLE, Aug. 22.—A tug-of-war with a man stretched against the outside of an office building between 12th and eleventh storey windows stopped traffic Wednesday. The man had tried to leap from the window of a physician's office on the 12th floor but his brother-in-law caught him by one foot and held on until help arrived.

A dentist on the 11th floor, seeing the man's hands hanging down, grasped him by the wrists and tried to pull him in a window.

For several minutes the rescuers struggled before the dentist released his hold and the man was drawn to safety.

White store, at 112 ave. and 79 st., was packed to overflowing and of the total vote of 800, more than 225 had been recorded. The I.O.O.F. hall, where 1,500 voters are listed on Poll 37, was not crowded but more than 350 had already checked in and noon-day crowd was beginning to trek towards it.

Approximately 700 of the 2,500 voters at Poll No. 17, situated at 10818 124 st., had exercised their franchise by 12:30 p.m. and the officials were perspiring freely as fresh hordes crowded down on them.

Ken's Service Station poll on 109 st., where there appeared to be more room than almost any other poll, had seen 800 of the 2,500 constituents travel through its doors before 1:00 o'clock.

As 1:00 o'clock ticked by, returning officers at Strathcona Public library poll reported that well over a third of their voters had already passed into the white-shrouded booths. Five hundred votes out of a possible 1,200 was the official verdict. The Separate school on 103 st., just south of Jasper ave., had handled 700 voters of the 2,000 who are registered.

Alex. Taylor school showed that 1,100 people had voted at 1:00 p.m. and a steady stream of housewives and neighborhood people was pouring through the door. This polling booth, one of the largest in the city, has 3,000 names on its lists.

With crowds up to 150 persons or more waiting at every poll, Edmonton's election machinery for provincial balloting swung swiftly into action at 9:00 a.m.

The weather was warm and bright as jostling crowds milled about the city's 40 polling places long before the scheduled time of opening and it was estimated that more than 2,000 votes had been cast within the first half hour.

Workers were busy throughout the night doubling the accommodation of every poll in the city and H. H. Crawford, returning officer, told the Journal that facilities for voting now were the greatest ever afforded in the city. Some of the polls, he said, had as many as 20 polling booths.

Hon. Russell Love, provincial treasurer, had a fight on his hands in Sturgeon, being in third place when four out of 56 polls had reported.

First poll to report from the rural ridings was Pelican, in Athabaska constituency. The vote was Falconer, Liberal, 7; McLeod, Conservative, 2; Tade, Social Credit, one. This poll reported at 6:02 p.m., two minutes after the official closing time.

Later, three polls in Athabaska riding gave Tade, S.C., 54; Falconer, Lib., 26 and McLeod, Cons., 9.

The Social Credit forces jumped into the lead in Wetaskiwin riding. At 6:30 p.m., four polls gave Wingblad, Social Credit, 123; next was Stevens, U.F.A., 32. Inglis, Cons., had 12 and Bolton, Communist, one.

Lead in Sedgewick

Sweeping into the lead at the start in Sedgewick riding, held for the past 14 years by the U.F.A., Fee, Social Credit, had 448 when five out of 46 polls had reported. Andrews, U.F.A., who has held the riding for many years, was in second place with 100, while Thunnell, Lib., trailed with 81.

In Hand Hills riding, in southeastern Alberta, three polls out of 63 showed that the Social Credit forces again had seized the lead there, their nominee, Cross, having 89 first choices. Col. Robinson, U.F.A., had 49 and Gibson, Lib., 29.

Acadia also showed strength for Social Credit, James taking the lead with 120 at five polls. Next was Proudfoot, U.F.A., with 62 and Beynon, Lib., with 18.

steady gains in Camrose. When 13 out of 49 polls had been heard of he was leading with 1,307. Johnson, Lib., had 371; Ronning, U.F.A., 237.

S.C. Leads in South

Not only in the north but also in the south, Social Credit nominees led the field. In Cardston, long represented in the house by Stringham, U.F.A., Tanner, Social Credit, had 778 first choices at four polls, while Wight, Lib., was second with 202. Stringham had 170 at this time.

Hon. Perren Baker, minister of education, was far behind when five polls out of 53 had reported in Cypress. At this stage, Flamme, S.C., had 339; Black, Lib., 124; Baker, 67, and Duncan, Ind., five.

Mackintosh, Ind., member in the last house, had only four votes at a poll in Bow Valley, compared with 107 for Caine, S.C., 16 for Nelson, Liberal, and 12 for Wheatley, U.F.A.

A close race was indicated in Edson, where Pattinson, Labor, was hot on the heels of Unwin, S.C., while Cowper, Lib., also was close to the leader.

At this time, also, it appears that six Liberals have a chance of being elected on second counts.

Pattinson, Labor, was making steady gains in Edson, and may win on the second count in a hot race.

A neck and neck race between the Liberals and Social Credit was indicated in St. Paul riding. There 11 polls gave Beaudry, S.C., 739 first choices and J. M. Dechene, veteran Liberal and member of the last house, 634. Joly, U.F.A., was next with 153.

First win to be conceded was that of Solon Law, Social Credit, in Warner. This was a loss by the U.F.A.

At 7:30 p.m., Social Credit candidates were leading in 37 ridings. C. Gordon, Lib., had a slight lead in Vegreville and St. Germain, Lib., was leading in St. Albert. I. Goresky, U.F.A., was heading the field in Whitford at this time.

In St. Albert, three out of 21 polls gave St. Germain 234, Boudreau, Ind. Lib. 205, Holder, S.C., 161, MacRae, Ind. Cons., 92, and Morrissey U.F.A., 21.

Brownlee Lags

Mrs. Rogers, S.C., forged into the lead in Ponoka. With nine polls in, she had 637, while Ex-Premier Brownlee had 344 and McLaren, Lib., 336.

Hon. F. S. Grisdale, minister of agriculture, had only 135 from 10 polls in Olds, while Ash, S.C., was at the top with 943. Mann, Lib., gathered 202 and Thomas, Cons., 44.

Premier Trails

Premier Reid had 331 votes in Vermilion riding when 33 polls had been heard from, compared to 798 for Farrell, S.C. Hunter Lib., with 361, was next to the leader, while Williams, Cons., had 132 and Halina, Comm., 114.

O. L. McPherson, U.F.A., and former minister of public works, was in second place in the race in Little Bow, having 374 when 21 out of 34 polls had reported. Dawson, S.C., however, was showing his heels to the field with 1306, while Stock, Lib., had 188.

A summary of country returns at 7:50 p.m., showed Social Credit leading in 43 ridings, with the U.F.A. ahead in one and Liberals in three.

Love Is Third

In Sturgeon, 18 out of 56 polls gave Popil, S.C., 819, and Dr. G. J. Hope, Lib., 613. Hon. J. R. Love was third with 270 and Fowler, Con., next with 158.

In Coronation, long represented in the house by Speaker Johnston, McLaughlin, S.C., had 1,654 when one half of the 56 polls had reported.

This Election Spoils Dinner

Firemen Called to
"Put Out" One
Roast

Don't tell anyone, but at least one city woman took election day so seriously Thursday that firemen were called to "put out" her roast. And was her husband put out!

The woman, we won't even tell her address, put a roast in the oven and went out to vote. Her husband meanwhile was licking his lips at the thought of the roast he was to enjoy at noon.

The neighbors smelled smoke and called the fire department. The house wasn't on fire, but the roast . . . ! Words fail!

Wager, U.F.A., had 529, Densmore, Lib., 419.

Overwhelming all his opposition, Cockcroft, S.C., had rolled up 1,954 votes in Stettler when 40 out of 76 polls reported. Brennan, Lib., obtained 424; Saunders, U.F.A., and former member, 277 and Blair, Cons., 125.

Dechene, Lib., had made a slight gain on the Social Credit candidate in St. Paul when 24 out of 60 polls came in, having 1,171 against 1,403 for Beaudry, S.C., Joly, U.F.A., trailed with 412.

Allen Fights Well
Hon. Hugh W. Allen was making the strongest fight of any of the U.F.A. candidates, being only 120 votes behind Sharp, S.C., when 20 out of 73 polls had reported.

Complete returns from Medicine Hat gave Robinson, S.C., 3,355, assuring his election on the first count. This was a win from the Liberals, H. Lang, former member, having 1,247 and Mayor Bullivant, Conservative, 650.

In Little Bow constituency, the Social Credit forces defeated O. L. McPherson, U.F.A., former member, and also the Liberal opponent, on the first count. The vote was Dawson, S.C., 2,311; McPherson, 690; Stack, Lib., 467.

With complete returns in from Lethbridge, ight, S.C., had 3,707, but not sufficient to win on the first count.

Synthetic Hormone Made, May Correct Abnormalities

American Chemical Society Told of Production From Sheep

GREASE OF WOOL

Acid Constituent of All
Living Cells; Another
Found Too

SAN FRANCISCO, Ag. 22.—Production of 20 milligrams of pantothenic acid—a powerful regulator of growth—was announced Tuesday before the American Chemical society.

At the same time, the society's 90th annual convention was informed that 200 drams of the first synthetic hormone ever "manufactured" also has been produced. Dr. L. Ruzicka, of Zurich, Switzerland, told of making the synthetic hormone from grease of sheeps' wool.

The acid, Prof. Williams said, apparently is a universal constituent of all living cells—plant, animal and bacteria. Minute amounts of the acid, he said, have remarkable effect in stimulating the growths of various types of plants and single-celled animals.

From grease of sheeps' wool the chemist has provided men of medicine with an artificial male sex hormone with which he may be able to correct sex abnormalities and other physical and malcharacteristics, Dr. Ruzicka reported.

"When do you think the members should meet?"

"It would seem to me that an early conference of the members would be called for it is essential that immediate steps should be taken to relieve the people of the tremendous strain they have been under in this province." "When would the basic dividends be paid?"

City Candidates Fighting For Seats

the central part of the South Side the east end and in Calder.

Labor Far Down
Labor did not figure prominently in the early returns. James East was the top Labor man, but he was in 14th place among the 27 city candidates as 40 polls had reported. Low man of the 27 was D. M. Ramsay, Conservative, with 10 first choices.

Poll after poll, in every part of the city, showed a decided preference for Mr. Howson and this, it was claimed by Liberals, indicated that Liberal candidates would make a strong showing, edging out Social Credit with Mr. Howson's second choices.

Further returns strengthened the commanding lead established by Mr. Howson and it appeared that he would have a substantial surplus, allowing his votes to be distributed among other candidates with the likelihood that Liberals would be favored by this development.

With approximately one-sixth of the city split polls heard from, Mr. Howson had 1,849 first choices and the next in running was Mr. Barnes, S.C., with 535.

A city vote of about 37,000 was indicated as the Edmonton polls closed. John Michaels, assistant to H. H. Crawford, returning officer, estimated that the total would be 75 per cent of the voters' lists, which numbered 51,000.

Lull in Late Hours

Fear that many citizens might not be able to cast their ballots before closing time was dispelled in the early afternoon when there was a definite slackening of the rush. The unprecedented early morning rush accounted for a large proportion of those desiring to vote.

Mr. Crawford made a survey of the larger polls in the down-town section of the city at 6:00 p.m. and found a considerable lull in voting.

At that hour, poll six, at Victoria high school, the second largest in the city, had received 1,498 votes against a possible total of 2,400.

At every poll visited there were similar stories.

"It took me an hour and 10 minutes before I could get in a polling booth!"

"I had to stand in line 50 minutes before I could vote!"

There were only four booths in my poll, which was only a cubby-hole. Surely they could find better accommodation in the Highlands than that. It took me an hour and 13 minutes to vote, by actual timing!"

"The man ahead of me took 25 minutes to mark his ballot."

"Two girls ahead of me took 18 minutes each to mark their ballots."

"When I got to the separate school on 103 st. to vote, there was a line all the way down the steps and down the street. It took me an hour and 10 minutes to reach a booth!"

These complaints and many like them reached the ears of Journal reporters as hundreds of citizens fretted and fumed before congested polling places.

Mayor Outspoken

"It was the most scandalous arrangement I have ever seen in any election," declared Mayor Clarke.

"My wife and I arrived at our poll about 9:05 a.m. and it took us nearly an hour to vote. The polling place was in the side room of a store, about 10 feet by 10 feet, that was utterly inadequate and anyone who knows anything about elections should have known it. Across the street, just half a block away, was Cromdale school, with practically unlimited accommodation. Why this wasn't used is a mystery to me," the mayor added.

Ex-Ald. Herbert Baker said the accommodation at the Highlands poll was woefully inadequate. There were but four booths at the start of voting and many persons went away without voting. Two more booths were erected later in the morning to partially relieve congestion.

Shortly after 9:00 a.m., Returning Officer H. H. Crawford engaged the services of Harry Rattenbury, city purchasing agent, and a crew of five carpenters to build additional booths in various polling places.

Expect Late Rush

With the weather remaining bright and warm, there was no let-up in the rush of voting up to press time and deputy returning officers told the Journal they were expecting a rush between 5:00 and 7:00 p.m. even worse than that experienced when the polls opened.

Several times during the morning over-eager party workers and scrutineers were checked by police officers on duty at every poll, for interfering unduly with electors.

Pencils Disappear

Disappearance of all the pencils from the polling booths shortly after 9:00 o'clock caused a temporary uproar in the course of which a voter and a scrutineer nearly came to blows. The pencils disappeared were replaced by dint of much scurrying around on the part of officials who ripped out their hair in great clouds a few minutes later when it was announced that the pencils had all disappeared once again.

In the midst of turmoil a scrutineer, who shoved the voters about rather officiously, ran afoul of an equally belligerent young man who wished to exercise his franchise. Amicable relations were restored before blood was shed.

At noon Poll 14, the Red and told the Journal that facilities for voting now were the greatest ever afforded in the city. Some of the polls, he said, had as many as 20 polling booths.

Record in Country

The early vote in the country was reported to be a record, giving credence to the forecast that 300,000 votes would be cast in the province.

Some of the city polls did not open until five or 10 minutes after the scheduled time and voters chafed impatiently as workmen put last minute touches on extra booths.

Congestion later in the day was feared when some of the early voters took as long as 25 minutes to mark their lengthy ballots. The average time required, however, was much less.

A crowd of 150 men and women awaited the opening of the Poll 12, Alex Taylor school, owing to delay in completing extra booths. Section A to B opened shortly after 9:00 a.m. but the remainder of the sections did not open until after 9:10 a.m. The first voter at this poll, an elderly gentleman, gruffly advised enthusiastic party agents to seek a warmer climate when they wanted to know his name.

A crowd of 150 or more was reported at the opening of the poll in Garneau school, No. 26.

Fifty persons were lined up at the separate school, 103 st., Poll 23, before it opened and throughout the early part of the morning voters had to stand in line before casting their ballots. Among the early voters here were G. R. F. Kirkpatrick, manager of the Imperial bank, and E. J. Fream, member of the public utilities commission.

Credit-ers Erect Tent

At Poll 17, 10818 124 st., the Social Credit party had set up a tent about 100 feet from the poll with a large sign reading "Social Credit information booth, Poll 17." It was used for that purpose throughout the day.

More than 100 persons were waiting for the opening of this poll and when it opened at 9:03, 60 or 70 persons rushed inside while 30 were left waiting outside.

DROWNS HER BABY FOR LACK OF CLOCK

Didn't Know When To Give It Medicine, Says Mother

GALVESTON, Tex., Aug. 22.—Mrs. Dorothy Scala, wife of a shrimp fisherman and mother of five children, didn't have a clock and so, she related in a statement Wednesday, she drowned her youngest daughter, Tala, six months old. Mrs. Scala is charged with murder.

"If I had had a clock, it never would have happened," Mrs. Scala declared. Her husband, she asserted, refused to buy her one so that she could tell when to give the ailing baby its medicine and when to feed it.

ASK DROUTH HELP

OTTAWA, Aug. 22.—More than 4,800 farmers and ranchers throughout the drouth area of the prairie provinces, including 1,400 in Alberta, had applied for assistance under the water development scheme organized as part of the Prairie farm rehabilitation act, Agriculture Minister Weir stated Thursday.

under in this province.

"When would the basic dividends be paid?"

"No person can say just how soon we will be ready to pay the basic dividends because we do not know what difficulties may arise in the pathway of building the foundations of a new social order."

No Reason for Alarm

"Is there any reason for capital or investors to be alarmed over the election of a Social Credit government?"

"None whatever. Nothing detrimental to their interests will be introduced so long as they are not exploiting the people."

"Would people buying homes on agreements for sale or mortgages continue to make payments in the lawful money of Canada?"

"Yes."

"Does that also apply to insurance policies, pensions, and such like?"

"Yes. There would be no change whatever in the lawful money of Canada."

"Are you now proposing to carry the Social Credit campaign into British Columbia and Saskatchewan?"

Mr. Aberhart said that while invitations had been received, he had been hesitating until there was a stronger result. He had nothing to say with regard to relations with the federal Reconstruction party headed by Hon. H. H. Stevens.

DRAGGED BY HORSE BOY'S LEG BROKEN

Had Halter Rope Tied to Waist When Animal Bolted

(Special to The Journal)

WINFIELD, Aug. 22—The halter rope tied around his waist as he was leading a horse to water, Kenneth Martin, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Martin who live on a farm five miles south of here, suffered a broken leg, cuts and bruises when the horse bolted and dragged him over stumps and rocks, before coming to a stop. The boy was found by his uncle, Eugene Francis and rushed to Wetaskiwin hospital where he is recovering.

At that hour, poll six, at Victoria high school, the second largest in the city, had received 1,498 votes against a possible total of 2,400.

Poll nine, Queen's Ave. school, registered 1,133 votes cast out of a possible 1,762 while poll 23, Separate school, 103 st., considered the third largest, had 1,351 votes out of 2,176.

First Report

The first split poll in the city to report was that taken in the Royal Alexandra hospital. This gave W. R. Howson, Liberal leader, 12 first choices; C. A. G. Barnes, Social Credit, eight; Dr. Walter Morrish, Liberal, four, and three apiece for Dr. W. S. Hall, Social Credit; Col. F. C. Jamieson, Conservative, and D. B. Mullen, Social Credit.

GRIT CHIEF LEADS

Social Credit candidates were well to the front in the early city returns, although W. R. Howson, Liberal leader, was in first place on first choices. He was followed by S. A. G. Barnes, Social Credit, on the early returns. The second poll in the city to report was A-9, Poll 30, at King Edward school. This gave Howson, Lib., 25; Barnes, S.C., 27; Hall, S.C., 15; Duggan, Cons., 13; Robertson, S.C., five; and Mullen, S.C., 10.

The other five Liberal candidates were running far behind their leader. With 25 polls heard from, Mrs. Conroy was second Liberal candidate, securing 156 first choices, compared to 1,849 for Mr. Howson. D. M. Duggan, Conservative leader, had captured 212 votes at this time and Dr. W. A. Atkinson was the second Conservative with 138.
